

AMERICAN RECREATION COALITION BEACON AWARDS

Purpose and Selection Criteria

During Great Outdoors Week 2005, the American Recreation Coalition (ARC) awarded two initial Beacon Awards recognizing innovative use of technology in visitor services and recreation management. These new awards implemented a recommendation of the Partners Outdoors 2005 session, where participants felt that a new awards program, jointly administered by ARC and federal agencies hosting more than a billion recreation visits annually, would encourage experimentation with and use of new technologies and alternative communications channels to enhance the experiences of visitors, especially young people and “non-traditional” visitors, and improve recreation program management. Recreation-related federal agencies are asked to nominate two outstanding initiatives where new technologies provide improved, cost-effective solutions to recreation program needs. Selection of the agency nominees will be the responsibility of each participating agency; final selection of honorees will be done by a special panel assembled by ARC. Award criteria include:

- 1) Innovation in either:
  - a) use of technology for visitor services or
  - b) use of technology for recreation managementMaximum points: 50
- 2) Partnerships with for-profit and nonprofit organizations in the private sector.
Maximum points: 20
- 3) Efforts to share news of creative solutions within the agency.
Maximum points: 15
- 4) Community support for the work of this initiative, as reflected in awards, community boards and committees, etc.
Maximum points: 15
